Good morning Ms. Gibson-Glass,

You guys are probably swamped with budget business so I understand completely if this isn't a top priority. Louis is looking to re-draft 2009 AB 436, relating to stewardship funding grants to control invasive species, which he introduced during the last session. You were so kind as to write up the original and since he wants a verbatim copy of it for this session I figured you would be a great LRB person to contact.

Thank you so much!

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) administers a financial assistance program under which it awards cost-sharing grants to public and private entities for projects to control invasive species that cause economic or environmental harm or harm to human health. Under current administrative rules, these entities include lake districts, certain lake associations, and nonprofit conservation organizations. Moneys for these grants are appropriated from the conservation fund.

Under current law, the state may incur public debt by issuing bonds for certain conservation activities under the Warren Knowles-Gaylord Nelson Stewardship 2000 Program, which DNR administers. The state is currently authorized to bond under two of the program's subprograms: the land acquisition subprogram and the property development and local assistance subprogram. Bonding under the property development and local assistance subprogram may generally be used only for nature-based outdoor recreation. This bill allows DNR to use stewardship bonding for these cost-sharing grants to control invasive species for nature-based outdoor recreation purposes.
